

I urge your opposition to allowing greater consolidation of media ownership. I believe the public is better served by retaining current rules, or encouraging greater diversity in genuine ownership. Please serve peoples' interests rather than monied business interests. Information is a 'life-blood' of democracy. If the majority of media outlets are held in relatively few corporate interests, the public and the democracy are more poorly served.